

Who are some of the consumers of Georgia Tech data?

There are numerous consumers of Georgia Tech data including

- Accreditors
- College Guidebook Publishers
- Public Policy groups
- Federal agencies
- State Agencies

Georgia Tech data are sent to government agencies to meet both federal and state requirements.

Georgia Tech data are shared with accreditors to ensure quality at the institutional, department and program levels.

College rankings depend on data from institutions that are collected from a variety of places including both Federal and institutional data sources.

Data are sent to the University System of Georgia (USG). USG sends data on behalf of Georgia Tech for some state and federal compliance and initiatives.

